The President Delivers Striking Decoration Day Address and Defends Army.

CRUELTIES ARE TO BE PUNISHED

Washington, May 30.—Decoration day was observed here today perhaps more generally than ever before. The announcement that President Roosevelt would deliver the oration at Arlington brought to that historic city of the dead a vast concourse of people, among whom were numbered thousands of veterans who journeyed to the cemetery to honor the memory of their comrades who had died in their country's cause, or who, having survived the struggles of 1861 and 1898, had passed since into the great unknown. The local arrangements were in charge of the department of the Potomac, and included a parade of all the G. A. R. and other patriotic organizations, the decoration of monuments and graves and addresses by men prominent in the affairs of the government.

At Arlington, where the principal exercises were held, a national salute was fired at 12 o'clock by the Fourth battery, United States field artillery. Music was rendered by the Marine band and by the memorial choir. Upon arriving at Arlington, the procession marched to the tomb of the unknown. During the decoration of the tomb by the special committee chosen from the different G. A. R. organizations and auxiliary societies, the Marine band played an appropriate selection. The procession then broke up and the decoration of graves began.

FLOWERS FOR CONFEDERATES.

A touching feature of the work of decoration was the strewing of flowers over the graves of the confederate dead, who lie buried in a section of the cemetery.

In the meantime a vast crowd had assembled at the amphitheater where the services were conducted. The familiar strains of "Nearer my God, to Thee," by the Marine band, marked the beginning of the services, which had been most elaborately planned. President Roosevelt's arrival was the signal for an outburst of applause, which continued for some time after he had taken his seat on the platform.

After an invocation and the rendition of several numbers by the band and choir, Mr. E. B. Hay read Lincoln's Gettysburg address. President Roosevelt followed, and as he arose he was again greeted with cheers and the plaudits of the immense audience, which stretched far outside the limits of the amphitheater. His remarks were given the closest attention and he was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The president spoke as follows:

It is a good custom for our country to have certain solemn holidays in commemoration of our greatest men and of the greatest crises in our history. There should be but few such holidays. To increase their number is to cheapen them. Washington and Lincoln—the man who did most to found the Union, and the man who did most to preserve it—stand head and shoulders above all our other public men, and have by common consent won the right to this pre-eminence. Among the holidays which commemorate the turning points in American history, Thanksgiving has a significance peculiarly its own. On July 4 we celebrate the birth of the nation; on this day, the 30th of May, we call to mind the deaths of those who died that the nation might live, who wagered all that life holds dear for the great prize of death in battle, who poured out their blood like water in order that the mighty national structure raised by the far-seeing patriotism of Washington, Franklin, Marshall, Hamilton, and the other great leaders of the revolution, great framers of the constitution, should not crumble into meaningless ruins.

DOERS OF A GREAT DEED.

You whom I address today and your comrades who wore the blue beside you in the perilous years during which strong, sad, patient Lincoln bore the crushing load of national leadership, performed the one feat the failure to perform which would have meant destruction to everything which makes the name America a symbol of hope among the nations of mankind. You did the greatest and most necessary task which has ever fallen to the lot of any men on this western hemisphere. Nearly three centuries have passed since the waters of our coasts were first furrowed by the keels of the men whose children's children were to inherit this fair land. Over a century and a half of colonial growth followed the settlement; and now for over a century and a quarter we have been a nation.

During our four generations of national life we have had to do many tasks, and some of them of far-reaching importance; but the only really vital task was the one you did, the task of saving the Union. There were other crises in which to have gone wrong would have meant disaster; but this was the one crisis in which to have gone wrong would have meant not merely disaster but annihilation. For failure at any other point atonement could have been made; but had you failed in the iron days the loss would have been irreparable, the defeat irretrievable. Upon your success depended all the future of the people on this continent, and much of the future of mankind as a whole.

LEFT A REUNITED COUNTRY.

You left us a reunited country. You left us the right of brotherhood with the men in gray, who with such courage, and such devotion for what they deemed the right, fought against you. But you left us much more even than your achievement, for you left us the memory of how it was achieved. You, who made good by your valor and patriotism the statesmanship of Lincoln and the soldiership of Grant, have set as the standards for our efforts in the future both the way you did your work in war and the way in which when the war was over you turned again to the work of peace. In war and in peace alike your example will stand as the wisest of lessons to us and our children and our children's children.

THE ARMY IN PHILIPPINES.

Just at this moment the army of the United States, led by men who served among you in the great war, is carrying to completion a small but peculiarly trying and difficult war in which is involved not only the honor of the flag, but the triumph of civilization over forces which stand for the black chaos of savagery and barbarism. The task has not been as difficult or as important as yours, but, oh, my comrades, the men in the uniform of the United States, who have for the last three years patiently and uncomplainingly championed the American cause in the Philippine islands, are your younger brothers, your sons. They have shown themselves not unworthy of you, and they are entitled to the support of all men who are proud of what you did.

These younger comrades of yours have fought under terrible difficulties and have received terrible provocation from a very cruel and very treacherous enemy.

ACTS OF CRUELTY.

Under the strain of these provocations I deeply deplore to say that some among them have so far forgotten themselves as to counsel and commit, in retaliation, acts of cruelty. The fact that for every guilty act committed by one of our troops a hundred acts of far greater atrocity have been committed by the hostile natives upon our troops, or upon the peaceable and law-abiding natives who are friendly to us, can not be held to excuse any wrong-doer on our side.

Determined and unswerving effort must be made, and is being made, to find out every instance of barbarity on the part of our troops, to punish those guilty of it, and to take, if possible, even stronger measures than have already been taken to minimize or prevent the occurrence of all such instances in the future.

LYNCHINGS ARE WORSE.

From time to time there occur in our country, to the deep and lasting shame of our people, lynchings carried on under circumstances of inhuman cruelty and barbarity—a cruelty infinitely worse than any that has ever been committed by our troops in the Philippines; worse to the victims, and far more brutalizing to those guilty of it. The men who fail to condemn these lynchings, and yet clamor about what has been done in the Philippines, are indeed guilty of neglecting the beam in their own eye while taunting their brother about the mote in his. Understand me. These lynchings afford us no excuse for failure to stop cruelty in the Philippines. Every effort is being made, and will be made, to minimize the chances of cruelty occurring.

CASES ARE EXCEPTIONAL.

But keep in mind that these cruelties in the Philippines have been wholly exceptional, and have been shamelessly exaggerated. We deeply and bitterly regret that any such cruelties should have been committed, no matter how rarely, no matter under what provocation, by American troops. But they afford far less justification for a general condemnation of our army than these lynchings afford for the condemnation of the communities in which they have taken place. In each case it is well to condemn the deed, and it is well, also, to refrain from including both guilty and innocent in the same sweeping condemnation.

In every community there are people who commit acts of well-nigh inconceivable horror and baseness. If we fix our eyes only upon these individuals and upon their acts, and if we forget the far more numerous citizens of upright and honest life and blind ourselves to their countless deeds of wisdom and justice and philanthropy, it is easy enough to condemn the community.

DRAWS A PARALLEL.

There is not a city in this land which we could not thus condemn if we fixed our eyes purely upon its police record and refused to look at what it had accomplished for decency and justice and charity. Yet this is exactly the attitude which has been taken by too many

A MONUMENT TO M'KINLEY

UNVEILING CEREMONY IN PHILADELPHIA.

PRESIDENT PALMA'S ACT

HAS WRECK OF MAINE IN HAVANA HARBOR DECORATED.

Philadelphia, May 30.—The feature of the Decoration day exercises in this city was the unveiling of the memorial bronze bust and pedestal erected to the memory of President McKinley by the Philadelphia letter-carriers and postoffice employes.

Postmaster Clayton McMichael received the gift from James O'Sullivan, chairman of the local letter-carriers McKinley memorial association. Former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith delivered the oration, at the conclusion of which the letter carriers' chorus of sixty voices sang "Lead, Kindly Light." A band of forty pieces, composed entirely of postoffice employes, closed the exercises with "Star-Spangled Banner."

The bronze bust and pedestal cost over $20,000 and stands on the first floor in the south corridor of the postoffice building.

THE MAINE DECORATED.

New York, May 30.—When the people of Havana awoke this morning, says a dispatch from that city to the Tribune, they saw on the wreck of the Maine the evidence of thoughtfulness and appreciation on the part of President Palma, who ordered last evening that the wreck, which stands as a monument for more than 200 brave Americans, be appropriately decorated to commemorate the day. American and Cuban flags, garlands of roses and wreaths constituted the decorations, and memorial services will be held in several of the American churches.

IN NEW YORK.

New York, May 30.—Decoration day was observed with impressive solemnity in this city. Crowds attended all the exercises, the weather being fine. There was an impressive parade of G. A. R. posts, National Guard regiments, United States regular troops and blue jackets and marines from the navy yard. The parade was reviewed by Lieutenant General Miles, Rear Admiral Barker, Acting Governor Nixon, Mayor Low, General Howard and General Brooke.

A soldiers' and sailors' monument, said to be one of the costliest of its kind in the world, was unveiled in Riverside Park. There was a parade of the Grand Army of the Republic in Brooklyn.

IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, May 30.—A parade, participated in by veterans of both the civil and Spanish wars was the feature of the memorial day demonstrations in this city today. Business was generally suspended and services were held in many churches. Owing to the perfection of the weather, thousands of people visited the cemeteries.

IN MANILA.

Manila, May 30.—The military forces observed Decoration day as a holiday. There were impressive services at the American cemetery, though the bodies of only a few soldiers are now buried there. The American club decorated the graves of the civilians.

It was thought inadvisable to declare the day a public holiday.

FRENCH HERO HONORED.

Newport, R. I., May 30.—Having honored in Washington the memory of the Count De Rochambeau, the members of the French mission came to Newport today to offer a tribute to the memory of the Chevalier De Ternay, the commander of the fleet of war vessels which conveyed the Rochambeau soldiers to Newport, their landing place. The tribute of France to its naval hero was paid by placing upon the tomb of De Ternay, in Trinity churchyard, a wreath of laurel sent by President Loubet.

Newport's streets bore the garb of memorial day, but the colors of the French republic were mingled with the American emblem. Through these streets the members of the French mission were escorted by a large body of sailors, marines and soldiers to take part in the various features of the program.

When the distinguished foreigners arrived at the railroad station here from New York, shortly before 9 o'clock, they were received by Governor Kimball, with his staff, the mayor, the members of the city council and other special committees. Outside the station was the Newport artillery company, the original members of which served under the Count De Rochambeau.

After an exchange of greetings the line of march was taken up for the burial place of De Ternay.

About 2,500 men were in line. The route passed the old State house and the house occupied by the Count De Rochambeau in 1780.

General Brugere placed the wreath of France upon De Ternay's grave. Other wreaths were also placed and the procession then moved to the Casino, where the parade was reviewed. The visitors later were driven about Newport and then given a luncheon at the Casino.

A PATROL BOX IS WRECKED

EXCITING RUNAWAY ON WEST MAIN STREET.

Team From the Country Dashes Into Police Signal Station and Splinters It.

There was a nasty runaway on West Main street yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, in which a team belonging to a farmer named Miller, living five miles out on the Huntington road, was the principal actor and the city of Fort Wayne was the principal sufferer. The runaway occurred just as the long cortege following the remains of the late Lem R. Hartman was approaching the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad bridge.

The horses, attached to a heavy, broad-tired farm wagon, came tearing down the street from the west. Warnings were shouted to the drivers of the carriages, who pulled their teams to the sidewalk and on to it, many of the occupants jumping out in fear of being struck. Happily the runaways passed the long string without hitting anyone, although there were several very narrow escapes.

At the corner of Main and Cherry streets the wagon swerved to one side and with a terrific crash struck patrol box No. 251 right in the solar. What was left of that patrol box and apparatus wasn't worth picking up. The box was flattened out like a door mat and the apparatus was reduced to junk. A little farther on the team was caught, not having sustained any serious damage. The wagon box and a half dozen bundles of shingles were distributed along the road. What caused the runaway was not learned.

SELLS POSTALS AT PROFIT.

Washington, May 30.—Postmaster General Payne has received a letter from a resident of a little town in the state of Washington, complaining that the postmaster there is trying to make a profit for himself out of the sale of postal cards. The letter follows: "To the General Postmaster, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: Our postmaster told me that he loose money to sell postal cards at 1 sent each. He sold me nine for 10 sents. I never paid more than 1 sent before. Please let me know if he has a right to charge more. I thank you ahead. Lars Olsen."

HAS A GOOD PLACE.

W. A. Hall is in receipt of a letter from Congressman Robinson saying that the appointment of Elden S. Baker, formerly of this city, as proofreader in the census department has been confirmed by the director of the census and that the position is now a permanent one, a fact which Mr. Baker's many friends in this city will be glad to learn. The position carries with it a salary of $1,200 per annum.

ADJUSTING LOSSES.

The damage by fire to the Singmaster-Hall printing office the other night has been estimated at $714.14. The adjuster of the Worcester insurance company will be here in the morning and D. L. Harding will adjust the losses sustained by the companies he represents. A total of $2,000 insurance was carried.

HE CAME FROM FORT WAYNE.

Peru, Ind., May 30.—Isaac White, a colored man, who came from Fort Wayne in a box car, is in quarantine three miles west of here, as he has smallpox. The 500 employes of the Pierce Steel company will have to be vaccinated, as White had been about the plant.

HONORS THE HEROES

Fort Wayne Pays Tribute to the Dead Who Wore the Blue When Union Was at Stake.

LIEUT.-GOV. GILBERT ORATOR OF DAY

Wreaths of evergreen and blooming flowers entwined about old glory, the starry emblem for which they offered their lives in patriotic sacrifice, today mark the last resting places of the soldier dead in all the cemeteries about Fort Wayne.

Loving hands of surviving comrades placed the tokens there, and citizen and soldier alike joined in paying a tribute of honor to the memory of the heroic dead. It was Decoration day, and in pageantry, in song and in eloquent words Fort Wayne gave formal expression to its love and reverence for the veteran soldier.

The day was very nearly ideal. Almost simultaneously with the coming of the morning sun flags broke out from the tall staffs of many of the down town buildings and flags and bunting appeared in profuse decoration upon many residences. The morning was bright and clear, with just an occasional suggestion of coming cloudiness to temper the sun's rays. Down town the early portion of the day was extremely quiet. There was no early morning march of the army of toilers toward offices, shops, stores and factories. It was a holiday and there was cessation from the daily routine that all might participate in the annual observance of the day. The schools of the city were not in session.

LITTLE BUSINESS DONE.

All the manufacturing institutions of the city, as well as the railroad shops, were closed. This was also true of all the wholesale establishments and a very large per cent. of the stores in the down town district. Some of the retail houses kept open until noon, but there was little business doing and the streets did not present the usual week-day activity. The early morning trains carried quite a quota of excursionists out of the city to various points, but the great mass of people remained at home, and it was not until nearly noon that the down town streets began to throng with those who desired to gain a place of vantage from which to view the afternoon parade.

Early this morning committees from the veterans' organizations started from the Elektron building in carriages with wreaths and flags to the various cemeteries, where the emblems were placed upon the soldiers' graves, which in ever increasing number from year to year dot the silent cities of the dead.

AT LAWTON PARK.

The first formal service of the day was inaugurated shortly after 9:30 o'clock when a delegation comprising members of the soldiers' organizations and citizens generally, headed by the Wayne Tent band, left the headquarters at the Elektron building for Lawton park, where at the soldiers' monument the opening services of the day were held. Wreaths, flowers and flags in lavish profusion adorned the handsome shaft, and a large audience listened attentively to the services. Charles Duebrow had been selected as president of the occasion, and after the invocation by Rev. B. Sawyer, of St. Paul M. E. church, the audience united in singing "America." Brief addresses appropriate to the occasion were given by I. N. Medaker, J. E. Graham, Col. R. S. Robertson, E. G. Anderson, Ralph M. Snyder and T. W. Blair.

The parade this afternoon was easily the most imposing feature of the day. It was due to move at 1:30 o'clock and long before that hour there was a rapidly augmenting activity about the headquarters on Berry street, east of Calhoun. Spectators filled up the down town streets rapidly and hundreds joined other hundreds in watching with close interest the wheeling of the various organizations into line for the big pageant. Carriages, bands, veterans' organizations, artillery, infantry, cadets and civic societies from every direction moved toward the common center for the formation of the parade.

GREAT PARADE STARTS.

Shortly after 1:30 o'clock the movement began. Capt. C. D. Crouse was chief marshal, and assisting him were Comrade James Ligget, Comrade I. N. Medsker, Charles Brown, Lieut. S. F. Wood and Lieut. John C. Jackson, and at the head of the line was a platoon of Fort Wayne police, under command of Sergeant Harkenrider. Immediately behind the officers marched the first of the bands. The make-up of the parade was as follows:

HE REBUKES CRITICS

men with reference to our army in the Philippines; and it is an attitude both absurd and cruelly unjust.

The rules of warfare which have been promulgated by the war department and accepted as the basis of conduct by our troops in the field, are the rules laid down by Abraham Lincoln, when you, my hearers, were fighting for the union. These rules provide, of course, for the just severity necessary in war. The most destructive of all forms of cruelty would be to show weakness where sternness is demanded by iron need. But all cruelty is forbidden, and all harshness beyond what is called for by need. Our enemies in the Philippines have not merely violated every rule of war, but have made of these violations their only method of carrying on the war.

JUSTIFIED BY THE RULES.

We would have been justified by Abraham Lincoln's rules of war in infinitely greater severity than has been shown. The fact really is that our warfare in the Philippines has been carried on with singular humanity. For every act of cruelty by our men there have been innumerable acts of forbearance, magnanimity and generous kindness. These are the qualities which have characterized the war as a whole. The cruelties have been wholly exceptional on our part.

The guilty are to be punished; but in punishing them, let those who sit at ease at home, who walk delicately and live in the soft places of the earth, remember, also, to do them common justice. Let not the effortless and the untempted rail over-much at strong men, who, with blood and sweat, face years of toil and days and nights of agony, and at need lay down their lives in remote tropic jungles to bring the light of civilization into the world's dark places. The warfare that has extended the boundaries of civilization at the expense of barbarism and savagery has been for centuries one of the most potent factors in the progress of humanity. Yet from its very nature it has always and everywhere been liable to dark abuses.

MUST BE VIGILANT.

It behooves us to keep a vigilant watch to prevent these abuses and to punish those who commit them; but if because of them we flinch from finishing the task on which we have entered, we show ourselves cravens and weaklings, unworthy of the sires from whose loins we sprang. There were abuses and to spare in the civil war. Your false friends then called Grant a "butcher," and spoke of you who are listening to me as mercenaries, as "Lincoln's hirelings." Your open foes—as in the resolution passed by the confederate congress in October, 1862—accused you, at great length, and with much particularity, of "contemptuous disregard of the usages of civilized war;" of subjecting women and children to "banishment, imprisonment and death;" of "murder," of "rapine," of "outrages on women," of "lawless cruelty," of "perpetrating atrocities which would be disgraceful to savages;" and Abraham Lincoln was singled out for especial attack because of his "spirit of barbarous ferocity." Verily, these men who thus foully slandered you have their heirs today in those who traduce our armies in the Philippines, who fix their eyes on individual deeds of wrong so keenly that at last they become blind to the great work of peace and freedom that has already been accomplished.

FIGHTING FOR FREEDOM

Peace and freedom—are there two better objects for which a soldier can fight? Well, these are precisely the objects for which our soldiers are fighting in the Philippines. When there is talk of the cruelties committed in the Philippines remember always that by far the greater proportion of these cruelties have been committed by the insurgents against their own people—as well as against our soldiers—and that not only the surest but the only effectual way of stopping them is by the progress of the American arms. The victories of the American army have been the really effective means of putting a stop to cruelty in the Philippines. Wherever these victories have been complete—and such is now the case throughout the greater part of the island—all cruelties have ceased, and the native is secure in his life, his liberty and his pursuit of happiness. Where the insurrection still smolders there is always a chance for cruelty to show itself.

OBJECT OF THE CONQUEST.

Our soldiers conquer; and what is the object for which they conquer? To establish a military government? No. The laws we are now endeavoring to enact for the government of the Philippines are to increase the power and domain of the civil at the expense of the military, pacification, and to render even more difficult than in the past the chance of oppression. The military power is used to secure peace, in order that it may itself be supplanted by the civil government. The progress of the American arms means the abolition of cruelty, the bringing of peace, and the rule of law and order under the civil government. Other nations have conquered to create irresponsible military rule. We conquer to bring just and responsible civil government to the conquered.

OUR ARMIES BRING ORDER.

But our armies do more than bring peace, do more than bring order. They bring freedom. Remember always that the independence of a tribe or a community may, and often does, have nothing whatever to do with the freedom of the individual in that tribe or community. There are now in Asia and Africa scores of despotic monarchies, each of which is independent, and in no one of which is there the slightest vestige of freedom for the individual man. Scant indeed is the gain to mankind from the "independence" of a blood-stained tyrant who rules over abject and brutalized slaves. But great is the gain to humanity which follows the steady though slow introduction of the orderly liberty, the law-abiding freedom of the individual, which is the only sure foundation upon which national independence can be built. Wherever in the Philippines the insurrection has been definitely and finally put down, there the individual Filipino already enjoys such freedom, such personal liberty, under our rule, as he could never even dream of under the rule of an "independent" Aguinaldian oligarchy.

NOT FIT TO GOVERN.

The slowly-learned and difficult art of self-government, an art which our people have taught themselves by the labor of a thousand years, can not be grasped in a day by a people only just emerging from conditions of life which our ancestors left behind them in the dim years before history dawned. We believe that we can rapidly teach the people of the Philippine Islands not only how to enjoy but how to make good use of their freedom; and with their growing knowledge their growth in self-government shall keep steady pace. When they have thus shown their capacity for real freedom by their power of self-government then, and not till then, will it be possible to decide whether they are to exist independently of us or be knit to us by ties of common friendship and interest. When that day will come it is not in human wisdom now to foretell. All that we can say with certainty is that it would be put back an immeasurable distance if we should yield to the counsels of unmanly weakness and turn loose the islands to see our victorious foes butcher with revolting cruelty our betrayed friends, and shed the blood of the most humane, the most enlightened, the most peaceful, the wisest and the best of their own number—for these are the classes who have already learned to welcome our rule.

OUR DUTY AT HOME.

Nor, while fully acknowledging our duties to others, need we forget our duty to our own country. The Pacific seaboard is as much to us as the Atlantic; as we grow in power and prosperity so our interests will grow in that farthest west which is the immemorial east. The shadow of our destiny has already reached to the shores of Asia. The might of our people already looms large against the world-horizon; and it will loom ever larger as the years go by. No statesman has a right to neglect the interests of our people in the Pacific; interests which are important to all our people, but which are of most importance to those of our people who have built populous and thriving states on the western slope of our continent.

NOT A PARTY QUESTION.

This should no more be a party question than the war for the Union should have been a party question. At this moment the man in highest office in the Philippine islands is the vice-governor, General Luke Wright, of Tennessee, who gallantly wore the gray in the civil war and who is now working hand in hand with the head of our army in the Philippines, Adna Chaffee, who in the civil war gallantly wore the blue. Those two, and the men under them, from the north and from the south, in civil life and in military life, as teachers, as administrators, as soldiers, are laboring mightily for us who live at home. Here and there black sheep are to be found among them, but taken as a whole they represent as high a standard of public service as this country has ever seen. They are doing a great work for civilization, a great work for the honor and the interest of this nation, and above all for the welfare of the inhabitants of the Philippine islands. All honor to them; and shame, thrice shame, to us if we fail to uphold their hands!

General Eli Torrance, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., followed the president with a few remarks and then the services were brought to a close with the playing of "America" by the band, the choir and assembly joining, and benediction by Henry S. Stevens, department chaplain.

A MONUMENT UNVEILED.

Immediately after the memorial exercises at the amphitheater, the monument erected to the memory of Col. Edgar O'Connor, of the Second Wisconsin regiment, was unveiled in the presence of a number of his comrades. The address of the occasion was delivered by Representative John J. Jenkins, of Wisconsin.

At Soldiers' Home, at Battleground cemetery, near the site of old Fort Stevens, and at St. Elizabeths, where lie countless numbers of veterans who lost their reason as a result of military service and who were buried in the asylum grounds, and at other cemeteries, appropriate services were held. Secretary Shaw delivered the oration at Battleground cemetery, while his assistant secretary, Hon. M. E. Ailes, made the memorial address at St. Elizabeths. Representative Washington Gardener, of New Jersey, was the principal speaker at the National cemetery, Soldiers' Home, where, too, there was an immense gathering of comrades and relatives and friends of deceased soldiers.

ABOUT THE CITY HALL.

There was very little doing about the city hall today. During the morning hours most of the departments were open, but no material business was transacted, the health and police departments being the only two that were kept open as usual.

The city employes will be paid on Monday.

Building permits were issued to F. C. Meyer to build a house on Force street, at a cost of $1,300; L. G. Haddex, to remodel a house on Holton avenue, at a cost of $350.

T. J. Peter returned from Chicago last night, bringing with him his bond for the construction of the Maumee avenue pavement, which he presented to the board of works last evening. The bond was pronounced all right, but will not be formally approved until the regular meeting of the board next Monday afternoon. The bond is given by the National Surety company.

The Misses Louise and Minnie Elver leave June 10 for Wittenberg, Germany, where they will remain five months.

Kodol Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

The medical profession is one of the most conservative in the world. It is well that it should be so. We want no experimenting with our lives or health. The physician is naturally and justifiably careful to prescribe no remedy until it well satisfied of its merits. So it is no small testimonial to the worth of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure that it is coming into general use among physicians of all classes. They appreciate even more readily than the layman that it gives weak stomachs just the rest they need and are prescribing it freely with wonderfully successful results. No dieting is necessary. Eat all you want. While you are strengthening the body with wholesome food Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is restoring the stomach to perfect health by relieving it of its work. Don't be satisfied with merely temporary relief when this remedy offers a complete cure. "I have used in my practice quite a lot of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure with no failures but relief in almost all cases," writes Dr. W. L. Wallace of Kingstree, S. C. "After an active practice of forty-five years this is the first time I have ever had occasion to publicly advise all dyspeptics that they have a certain remedy in Kodol Dyspepsia Cure."

Cures All Stomach Troubles.

Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1 bottle contains 2½ times the 50c size.

When you suffer from biliousness or constipation use the famous little liver pills known as DeWitt's Little EARLY RISERS. They never gripe.

Rheumatism

The liniment bottle and flannel strip are familiar objects in nearly every household. They are the weapons that have been used for generations to fight old Rheumatism, and are about as effective in the battle with this giant disease as the blunderbuss of our forefathers would be in modern warfare.

Rheumatism is caused by an acid, sour condition of the blood. It is filled with acrid, irritating matter that settles in the joints, muscles and nerves, and liniments and oils nor nothing else applied externally can dislodge these gritty, corroding particles. They were deposited there by the blood and can be reached only through the blood. Rubbing with liniments sometimes relieve temporarily the aches and pains, but these are only symptoms which are liable to return with every change of the weather; the real disease lies deeper, the blood and system are infected. Rheumatism cannot be radically and permanently cured until the blood has been purified, and no remedy does this so thoroughly and promptly as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which dissolves and washes out all foreign materials, and the sufferer obtains happy relief from the torturing pains.

SSS

S. S. S. contains no potash or other mineral, but is a perfect vegetable blood purifier and most exhilarating tonic. Our physicians will advise, without charge, all who write about their case, and we will send free our special book on Rheumatism and its treatment.

Decatur Journal: "Jesse Sellemeyer will leave the city tomorrow evening for Fort Wayne, where he has accepted a position with the Fort Wayne City band for the summer. He will play a cornet. The band is composed of eighteen pieces and is the best in that place. Without doubt it has secured the services of a good musician, as Jesse has made quite a reputation for himself by his excellent playing."

Peru Journal: "It is reported here that Miss Alice Higgins, of Fort Wayne, who was born and raised here, will soon go to London, accompanied by her mother, to be united in marriage to a young man of Fort Wayne who is at London working on a five-year contract. Miss Higgins is a most excellent young woman and nothing would please her Peru friends better than to learn of her marriage to a young man worthy of her.

THE CONCERT TONIGHT.

At the concert by the pupils of the Fort Wayne high school this evening at the Temple the Haydn quartet will render Herbert Johnson's arrangement of the famous song that touches the heart of the defenders of our country, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground." The ladies' quartet of the First church will also give two splendid selections and Mr. Stouder will sing Schumann's stirring song "The Two Grenadiers." The high school chorus and the Glee club will bear the burden of the program and their efforts will certainly be warmly appreciated, if hard work counts for anything. Their selections will run the gamut of musical expression and Prof. Miles has used every effort to make this the local music event of the season. The box office is now open for the reservation of seats. Harry Hoes will play a violin solo.

GO TO KENDALLVILLE.

About sixty members of the Church of Christ, Scientist, went to Kendallville this morning to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Isbell, who reside on a farm one and one-half miles out from that city. Carriages met the party at the depot and conveyed them to the home of their host and hostess. The party will return home on train No. 8 at 6:30 this evening. For their accommodation the railway company furnished an extra coach this morning.

"JOHN SMITH" DISCOVERED.

"John Smith, whose true name is unknown," has finally been discovered. His name is William Detolph, and is perhaps better known as "Schoene Wilhelm" (Pretty William). Complaints against him are increasing, principally among which are his habit of indulging in profanity and coarse language in the presence of ladies at Swinney park. Numerous complaints have been filed with the police and the superintendent of police himself has a grievance, besides a lot of positive information regarding the man's habits and conduct. The principal reason that William has not been brought up standing before is because while the ladies outraged by his language have no hesitancy in complaining of the man's conduct to their families none of them are inclined to be dragged into court to testify, much less file the affidavits themselves.

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

Lake Wawasee is now said to be higher than for many years.

Rochester capitalists have projected an electric line from that town to Lake Maxinkuckee.

It is said that $50,000 is being expended at Winona this spring in improving and building summer cottages.

Frank Pangh, of Columbia City, serving with the regular army in the Philippines, is dead from pneumonia.

Elkhart citizens are petitioning the city council to make an appropriation for public band concerts this summer.

Inmates of the Elkhart police station had sawed away two iron bars and were nearly ready for a dash for liberty when the scheme was discovered by the superintendent.

The old settlers of Noble county will hold their annual meeting at Albion on Thursday, June 5. Hon. John W. Hamm, of LaGrange, will deliver the principal address.

There is a movement on foot to organize a troop of cavalry in northern Indiana as a part of the national guard of the state. South Bend, Mishawaka and Elkhart will have squads.

The lifeless remains of John Thorp, 74 years of age and once a prominent South Bend citizen, were found beneath a dry kiln in that city. Death had resulted from alcoholism and heart trouble.

Mrs. Henry C. Sparks, of Markle, attacked Dr. Zimmerlee in the postoffice at that place, using a horsewhip to avenge what she termed slanderous reports said to have been circulated by the doctor.

Miss Dulcena Crispell, an Albion lady, died very suddenly Monday evening at her home. She was alone when death came and her brother coming home shortly after, found her lying on the floor, face downward and lifeless.

Dan Hanselman, near Angola, lost a finger in a peculiar manner. He was loading some heavy timbers when the finger was caught between a stick of timber and the wagon wheel. The team started at that moment and Hanselman's finger was literally ground off in an instant.

MOVING THE OFFICES.

This morning the work of removing the executive offices of the Home and the National Telephone companies to the new building of the Home Telephone company, at Main and Clinton streets, was begun and Cashier Fox is now snugly ensconced in handsome new quarters. Manager Moellering's office will be moved by Monday and the Home company will now begin the work of "cutting over" about one hundred telephones per day into the new building. The toll operator's office will, however, remain in the old quarters for about three weeks before it will be possible to install the new equipment for this branch of the service.

Weak?

Then you want strength. Good food, an active liver, and pure blood will bring it. You naturally think of eggs and milk, Ayer's Pills and Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Ask your doctor if he can come any nearer to the truth. Do as he says, at any rate.

"For 25 years I have never missed taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla every spring. It cleanses my blood, makes me feel strong, and does me good in every way."

ALLEN COUNTY MAN SUES.

Decatur, Ind., May 30.—The damage suit of Gilbert vs. Fugate, in which the plaintiff asks for $5,000 for alleged alienating a wife's affections, which has been commenced in the circuit court, will probably not go to the jury before Friday evening. Several witnesses were examined late yesterday afternoon and quite a number testified today. The testimony of the witnesses is quite sensational. Fugate lives in Kirkland township, of this county, and Gilbert lives in Allen county. The latter moved from Decatur to that county several months ago.

The greatest sensation of the year in the circus line is John O'Brien's horse ballet, the latest spectacular feature of Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows. This is the most magnificent horse display ever conceived.

The republicans who are doing most of the boasting of what "we" have done for Cuba, for Porto Rico and for the Philippines are in the main those who have fought desperately against every proposition to give the people of these islands the benefit of equitable trade relations with the United States.

Interest in the terms of peace about to be consummated between Great Britain and the representatives of the two late South African republics will center on the concession made to the Boers, rather than upon the great fact of peace itself, for that has been recognized as inevitable sooner or later. It will be interesting to know whether the continuance of the war during the past year has won anything substantial for the doughty burghers who refused to quit fighting when beaten.

Evil days seem to have come upon trusts, combines, pools and other associations formed for the purpose of holding up the people. Fast upon the heels of the suit against the packers' trust comes the indictment of the officials of six railroads by the federal grand jury at Memphis. These railway corporations are held to be guilty of crimes in maintaining a pool by which the cotton movement is absolutely controlled. Combination may be a phase of modern progress, but it also appears to be in most cases a violation of the laws.

The board of state charities has rendered its report on the recent investigation of cruel practices in the Michigan City penitentiary and Deputy Warden Barnard is in effect relieved of the accusations made by Dr. Horne, late prison physician. The board finds, however, that undue severity has been employed in some cases and recommends that certain forms of punishment be abolished with reference to men suffering with varicose veins and the insane. Warden Barnard is exonerated of the charge of having been maliciously brutal and the specifications bearing upon the quality of food served are not sustained by the evidence, declares the board.

A PSALM OF PEACE.

(By William Bradford Dickson.)

Oh gentle Christ!
Calm Prophet of the coming age of peace,
Forerunner of the reign of Heav'n on earth,
Thou Messenger of love and light,
Brood o'er this strife-bound world,
Annul its weary wars of greed and gold,
Blot out its strife-filled past,
And set the human heart aflame with love
For God's sweet victories of peace.

2.

The clang of arms,
The roll of drums, the cannon's roar,
The trumpet's call to strife, the neighing steed,
The gleaming bayonet and sword
Wet with the sacrificial blood,
The glistening sheen
Of warlike pageants round about,
The flame-girt battlefield,
Are but the unsubstantial dream
Of earth's environments.

3.

The path to freedom's heights
And man's eternal brotherhood,
Trends upward o'er the Holy Hill of Christ,
Whose law is life, whose way the Cross,
Whose love unites humanity
In tender bonds of God's fraternity.

HONORING THE DEAD.

With each recurrence of Decoration day there is renewed and added evidence of the strong hold the occasion has upon the sentiments of the people. Almost two score years after the close of the war in which the nation's honored dead fought to preserve the union of the states, Decoration day enlists the interest and commands the solemn approval of all to whom sentiments of patriotism and valor can appeal. It is fixed in the calendar of national events and the feeling which first prompted observance of such day and has preserved the beautiful customs which invest it will keep alive the beautiful and tender ceremony with which we honor the dead heroes of the greatest conflict of modern times.

And not alone upon the dead falls the splendid tribute of this day. Those who survived the shock of battle, the killing toils of the march and the myriad perils of the camp and have battled against the steady charge of time share in the honors which a grateful people pay to the preservers of their nation. While the observance of this day is a memorial tribute to the patriotism, the valor and the achievements of those who have gone to eternal peace, the exalted sentiments which cluster thickly around it cannot be separated from the heroes yet living. The veterans themselves perform a solemn and loving office to the memory of their comrades sleeping beneath "the low green tent," but the people acknowledge the debt due to the living and to the dead.

Not for long will the survivors of the stupendous conflict of the sixties be here to participate in this holy ceremony. Time which has bowed their forms and seamed their faces has thinned their ranks. Soon the last of them shall have gone to "the bivouac of the dead." But to their sons and to those younger veterans of three wars since the Union was preserved and to the generations these will beget the perpetuation of this day can be committed. So long as the Union survives a monument to the men whose deeds preserved it the ceremonies of this day will survive.

SOUDER IS NOW A SERGEANT

FORT WAYNE BOY IN REGULAR ARMY IS PROMOTED.

Was a Former Member of Battery B and is Rising Rapidly in the Artillery Service.

Fort Wayne friends of Willis H. Souder will be gratified to learn that he is making rapid advancement in regular army ranks and has just been promoted to sergeant in the heavy artillery service.

Mr. Souder is a son of Daniel Souder, former county clerk, and is well known in this city. He was formerly a member of battery B and less than two years ago entered the regular army service, being assigned as a private in the first company of heavy artillery stationed at Fort DeSoto, Fla. Within a short time he was appointed a corporal and announcement of his further rise in the service has just been made. His advancement in so short a period of service is evidence of a highly commendable record as a soldier.

Harry Hite and staff and the following corps of assistants: Comrade Alfred T. Lukens, Comrade Charles Beahn, Comrade J. Hols, Lieut. E. Beckford, Theodore Hardendorf, Major W. W. Barnett.

Sion S. Base post, G. A. R.; Anthony Wayne post, G. A. R.; Union Veteran Legion; General Lawton post, G. A. R.; Spanish-American War Veterans; Capt. James B. White camp, S. of V.; Col. E. S. Walker camp, S. of V.

SECOND DIVISION.

Formed on North Clinton street, right resting on Berry, commanded by Capt. W. C. Cleary and Charles A. Stockbridge.

Band.

Letter Carriers.

Company D, Third regiment, I. N. G., commanded by Capt. O. C. Meyers; Hibernian Rifles, commanded by Capt. J. A. Ford; battery B, First light artillery, commanded by Lieutenant Jones; drum corps; Concordia Cadets, commanded by Capt. H. Quitmeyer; Fort Wayne camp No. 4761, Modern Woodmen of America; Independent Order of Red Men; No. 2, Knights of the Golden Eagle; wagon bearing monument to unknown dead; carriage with Misses Helen Bricker, Elizabeth Jackson, Elsie Jossie, who participated in Sons of Veterans ceremonies at Lindenwood; members of national and division staff G. A. R. in carriages; speakers at Lindenwood, Lieutenant Governor Gilbert, Hon. H. C. Berghoff, Rev. J. C. Breckinridge, Rev. J. H. Evans; quartet in carriages; Ladies' Aid society; Women's Relief corps; Ladies of the G. A. R.; Ladies of the U. V. L. and citizens in carriages; city council.

BIG CROWD SAW IT.

From its place of formation on East Berry street the pageant moved south on Clinton street to Washington, west on Washington to Calhoun, north on Calhoun to Columbia, west on Columbia to Harrison, south on Harrison to Berry, west on Berry to Rockhill, north on Rockhill to Main, and west on Main to Lindenwood.

Down town a tremendous crowd lined pretty nearly every street to watch the passing of the parade, and there were many enthusiastic compliments as organization after organization passed in review. Battery B made an especially good impression, for it appeared with very nearly a full complement of horses and men. Calhoun street was densely packed, and on other thoroughfares the crowd was almost as large, while throughout the long line of march crowds were gathered to witness the parade. Behind the parade as it turned upon Main street for the last stage of the march to Lindenwood a perfect jam of humanity followed to be present at the exercises at Lindenwood. Other thousands had preceded the pageant there on foot, riding bicycles, in carriages and by street car. At noon the car service on the Main street line was largely augmented, and for two hours every westbound car from Calhoun street was loaded to its utmost capacity. The crowd at Lindenwood was one of the largest ever seen there.

AT THE CENOTAPH.

Captain James B. White, Sons of Veterans, exemplified the beautiful ritualistic ceremonies in honor of the unknown dead, and Captain Eugene B. Smith gave Lincoln's Gettysburg address. The Emerson quartet sang "Cover Them Over With Beautiful Flowers," and the company of little girls placed the floral decorations upon the cenotaph.

Following this the ritualistic ceremonies of the Spanish-American war veterans were given by a detachment from Henry W. Lawton camp, and the service closed with the firing of a military salute by a detachment from company D.

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Hon. Henry C. Berghoff presided at the public exercises at the grand stand, and in beginning this portion of the program Mr. Berghoff said:

Ladies, Gentlemen and Soldiers: We meet today for a purpose sublime and dignified; we march to the graves and decorate them with flowers and flags, and yet there is not the sadness of a funeral about it; time has softened the things that caused us to come. We meet in beautiful cemeteries, marching and listening to solemn funeral dirges, yet they who rest here have been placed there many years ago. Nature has made this place the most beautiful burial ground; the graves are not new, and all are decorated with nature's green. Who are those resting here—whose sons, friends and comrades are they? We all know it; they belong to that part of the grand army that has answered the last roll call; the canopy of heaven is their tent, and this is their camping ground. Their names are engraved in golden letters in the hearts of every American and upon the eternal muster roll; they are descendants of all races and have served their nation and country without distinction of religion, race or nationality. They have left their earthly home years and years ago, and to us who remain behind is only left this day of memories. From year to year, when nature gives birth to new creation, when the beautiful flowers begin to sprout, the birds begin to sing, when spring is in its full glory, we pause and think, and among the chirping of birds and the humming of bees we see the silent march to the grave; our love wanders away from the beauties of nature, and silent we meet at the resting place of those whose earthly remains have returned to dust, but whose spirit we hope lives in eternal glory. Year after year, comrades of those resting in the graves march in procession under the stars and stripes and place a flower or flag upon their last resting place. But a few years hence the last of you will have answered the final roll call. What then? Will you all be forgotten? Heaven forbid! Our dead heroes will always live with us in memory, and as long as history will record deeds of valor the heroes of free America will not be forgotten. The war in which they fought has given peace to the nation, it has given freedom and equal rights to all, and placed in our hearts the sacred sympathy of these graves; it has cost many lives, brought about many hardships, yet it has been the cause that we can stand today among their graves and yet not blush that we survive. The seed of patriotism planted by them has grown to such a magnitude that the world stands amazed today at that little dwarf of a nation of forty years ago that now almost rules and directs the destinies of the universe; the flag for which they fought and died protects today, not thirty millions of people, but it is the emblem of a free nation assembling under its folds nearly a hundred million of free men. The flag that fell at Fort Sumter floats today free and unobstructed in nearly every harbor and city of the civilized world, honored, respected and feared, and it is our solemn duty to always keep alive in our hearts the spirit of love and devotion to it and its defenders. We as Americans in our adoration of the mammon of the twentieth century, wealth, too soon forget all there is sublime and ideal; we do not comprehend the kindness of divine Providence that has always blessed us in our struggles for right and liberty; we too soon forget that the union jack of Great Britain, the eagle of Germany, Russia or Austria, the tricolor of France or Italy, the half moon of Turkey, the dragon of China, all have been defeat, and that old glory, the stars and stripes, today stands out boldly as the only never-defeated, victorious virgin banner of all nations. Let us on days like this bow deep in thanks to that Providence, let us give renewed thanks to those heroes who by their deeds of valor have implanted in our hearts that patriotism which makes heroes and saints, a patriotism that can never die and is always ready to inspire us to fight in defense of country, home and liberty. Let us make a solemn pledge upon the graves of these honored dead that we shall always stand ready to defend the flag as long as it remains the emblem of true liberty, and that whenever it is attacked, no matter where or by whatever foe, but one duty shall remain to us, to defend it, and if in such defense it must be, let us be ready to sacrifice all. If we should fall in its cause let the daily roll call be like that of the First grenadier of France, to be answered by a friend in our stead with the reply: "Dead upon the field of honor."

Rev. J. C. Breckinridge, of Bethany Presbyterian church, offered prayer, and the Emerson quartet sang a selection. Mr. Berghoff then presented Lieutenant Governor Newton W. Gilbert, who delivered the principal address of the day. The speaker was at his best, and he held the closest attention of his hearers. Mr. Gilbert spoke as follows:

MR. GILBERT'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Chairman: In the glorious cycle of the year God and His angels look down upon no more beautiful spectacle than they see today, when the greatest nation in human history forsakes business and pleasure and devotes a day to garlanding the graves of its heroes. The innocence and purity of childhood, the strength and power of manhood, the virtue and beauty of womanhood, the experience and memory of old age, all unite to do honor to our soldier dead. From ocean to ocean, in city and hamlet, upon distant isles of the sea, on Arlington heights, and in remotest country churchyards, the most beautiful flowers of springtime, bedewed with the tears of patriots everywhere, are laid upon their graves. It is the national holy day of all the year, and he who gives the day to sport or unnecessary labor thereby proclaims his indifference to the great achievements of the nation's heroes, to whose memory the day is consecrated.

The civil war was a national necessity. It was the furnace of fire in which the God of nations melted the discordant elements of our beloved country into one homogeneous people. The Puritan had landed upon Plymouth Rock, and the Cavalier had settled in the valleys of Virginia. It is not my purpose to detract from the character of either. Each was a type of manhood needed in the new world, but they were essentially different. The Puritan was plebian; the Cavalier, an aristocrat. The Puritan was an ascetic; the Cavalier, a sensualist. The Puritan was intolerant; the Cavalier, liberal. The Puritan had his "convictions;" the Cavalier, his "institutions."

PURITAN AND CAVALIER.

The Puritan hated the Cavalier while yet in the old world, years before either thought of coming to the western hemisphere; and the Cavalier felt for him nothing but contempt and scorn. They transplanted here a branch of the contest between Cromwell and Charles the First, which it has taken centuries to uproot. They almost forgot their differences during the turmoil of the revolutionary war. Together they spent seven years of their lives in the arduous service of their country, enduring the hardships and suffering, the privations of that great conflict. For seven years they together followed Washington, through blood and tears, while human liberty was born. Together they laid broad and deep the foundations of this great republic, which, please God, shall endure forever; and poured out their blood, in unstinted flood, upon that altar. But the spirit of Cromwell still animated the Puritan; and that of Charles the First, the Cavalier. When the frosts of Valley Forge had ceased to kill, and the fires of patriotism burned lower upon the hilltops, their inborn characteristics still survived. Their differences smouldered through many years, until they broke out in that mighty conflagration, the ashes of which repose in a million sepulchres; until the nation was torn asunder; until a government by the people was put to the supremest test; until liberty hung in the very balance for four long years.

CONTROLLING SENTIMENT.

Patriotism has been the controlling sentiment of America, ever since the rigorous winter of 1778, when that body of men, perhaps unparalleled in the world's history, unpaid, unclothed and unfed, tracked the snows of Valley Forge with the blood of their footsteps, and never turned their eyes to their country with complaint, or from their enemies in fear.

Love of country and love of home again impelled the soldiers of the sixties, when the mightiest war of all the ages was fought by men as brave as ever woman gave to earth. You, who witnessed the scenes of that war, have them indelibly imprinted on your memories; while those of us, who have only heard and read them, can never know their horrors. You were in the fore-front of those who fought the greatest war that history records. You bore the burden of the march. You suffered from hunger and thirst, from cold and heat. You sustained the shock of multiplied battles. You faced carnage and bloodshed, and death in every hideous form. You saw your companions die in battle; you saw them upon lingering beds of pain; you saw them stricken with fell disease; you saw them, noble, honest, brave, yield their lives for their country and for their country's cause. You knew the horrors of southern prison pens. You faced starvation, disease and death.

Do you recall the day when the flag under which you marched was brought back and handed to our great war governor? Do you recall the glory and the happiness of that day? Your cup of sorrow had been full and overflowing. Then came the discharge. Then came dreams of wife's caress and children's kiss. Oh, the joy of that release. Behind you, suffering, disease and death. Before you, peace and joy and love. Behind you, stranger, prison, foe. Before you, children, mother, wife. Behind you, hunger, hate and hell. Before you, hope and home and heaven. Behind you, dishonored flag and severed country. Before you, the Union once again, and "Old Glory" the beauty of all the skies.

OLIVER P. MORTON.

You delivered your flag, torn by shot, stained with blood, sanctified by suffering, into the hands of the man who had been the governor of this commonwealth during those awful days, the true-hearted, liberty-loving, undaunted man of the hour, Oliver P. Morton. The man, whose life overshadowed all others during those trying days, was he. Calumniated and reviled by some who were then our neighbors; denounced as a tyrant by many of our citizens; often so dangerously near defeat, that strong men all but lost their hope and courage, and patriotic women were on the knees of prayer; with the skill of an admiral, the bravery of a general and the faith of a God-trusting man, he guided the ship of state through shoals and hidden rocks, into the harbor of fidelity to the union. When attacked by pirates, he gave them fight, regardless of their strength; when any of his crew attempted to scuttle the ship, as they often did, he placed all hands at the pumps and replaced the traitors with honest men; when tempests raged and lightnings filled the sky, he stood upon the bridge with intrepid heart, and gave courage again to every patriotic mariner. God gave Morton to Indiana; He gave him to the nation; He gave him to the cause of liberty everywhere. Let us bow our heads and hearts today in grateful remembrance.

Since the morning stars sang together in the glory of their birth, they never looked down upon a body of soldiery like the volunteer army of the union in our great civil war. Who were its soldiers? The boys of a generation ago. Listen! We see a youth, a stripling yet in school, who had just learned, perhaps, what it is to love a woman; whose thoughts by day and whose dreams by night were filled with holy visions of a home soon to be his. His life was rich with promises and all his plans were made. Until the moment when his country was assailed, the thought of their abandonment could not have found a lodgment in his brain. How quick the change. A shot is fired—a shot which is heard around the globe. It reaches his ears. He hurries to that woman's side. He tells her with panting breath and fervid words that his country needs him more than she.

WOMAN BIDS HIM GO.

Brave woman that she is, she bids him go. With kisses and embraces, divinely sweet, she sends him forth. The thought of her inspires him as he takes up the weary march. When hunger comes, he feeds upon her love. In the shock of battle, devotion to her leads him on. When frightful missile tears his flesh and carries away a limb, he fancies she is whispering in his ear sweet words of comfort. Lying upon a bed of pain, he feels her loving touch. Though stricken with fell disease, he yet remembers her caress, hears her loving voice. Can that man die—die on a terrible battlefield—die on a lingering bed of pain—without that woman's voice again to sound as music in his ears; without that woman's hand to cool his fevered brow? Yes; and 25,000 others from Indiana, like him. He died, with no tear of sorrow on his cheek, with no words of murmuring on his lips, with his eyes strained for a last look at our dear, dear flag, which both he and that one woman loved so much.

What can the people of Indiana do? They cannot bring him back to life and love. They cannot cure the anguish of that woman's heart. They cannot reach him in the great beyond and pour out to him their words of gratitude and praise. They can do little, oh, so very little. They can only say to those who yet live, "We love the men who died for us, for our flag, for the cause of human liberty." They can only strew his grave with flowers. They can only erect a monument, enduring as the everlasting hills, to be seen and understood by their children and their children's children unto countless generations. Little, indeed, compared with what our soldiers did, yet great in results throughout many tomorrows. That monument, which the other day we dedicated, is not only a pile of stone, ornamented with bronze and sculpture, inscribed with history; it is not only a material thing, beautiful to look upon. It may be this, but it is vastly more. It is something spiritual. It is the outpouring of the hearts of the people of Indiana. It represents our love and gratitude. It is an endeavor to embody in visible form the patriotic devotion of liberty-loving Indiana to the principles for which

"MISSING."

"Missing," on the muster roll,
Someone slumbers here.
Where the dewdrop on the rose
Glistens like a tear;
Where the wild-bloom fragrantly
Gladdens all the day.
Asking not if he who sleeps
Were the blue or gray.

"Missing"—where the sabres flashed
And the war drum rolled;
Violets in beauty gleam,
Roses red unfold.
In the silence of the hills
God's memorial day
Finds the glory of the blooms
Over blue and gray.

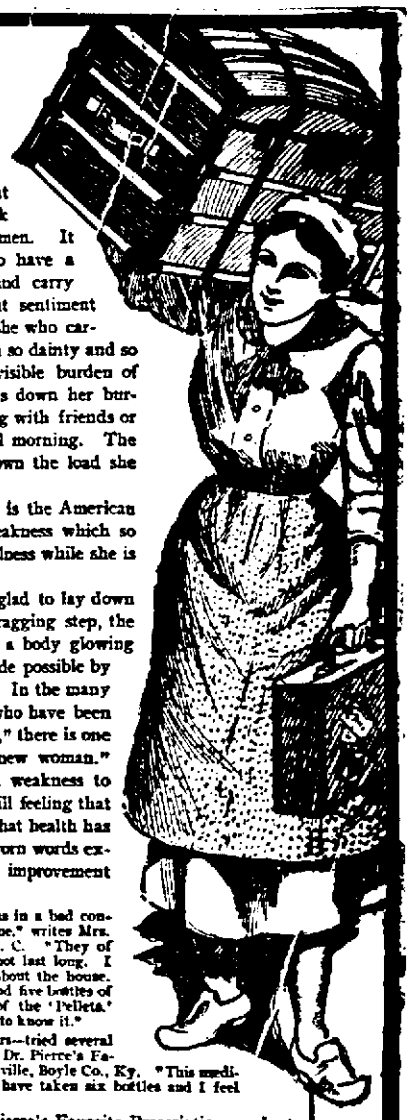
WOMEN WILL FIND

Tourists upon the European continent are amazed to find women doing the work which in America is left entirely to the men. It shocks the American sense of chivalry to have a woman pick up the trunk and handbag, and carry them while he walks empty-handed. But sentiment aside, which is the most burdened woman, she who carries trunk and handbag or that other woman so dainty and so weak who goes through life bearing the invisible burden of pain? The woman who bears the trunk lays down her burden when the day is done, enjoys an evening with friends or family, and goes to bed to sleep soundly till morning. The woman whose burden is pain never lays down the load she carries, day or night.



The finest and fairest woman in the world is the American woman. Her one defect is the womanly weakness which so often destroys her beauty and mars her usefulness while she is yet in the springtime of life.

There is not a woman who would not be glad to lay down this burden of ill-health; to exchange the dragging step, the sensitive nerves, the pain-racked body, for a body glowing with abundant health. That exchange is made possible by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In the many letters received by Dr. Pierce from women who have been cured by the use of his "Favorite Prescription," there is one phrase constantly recurs: "I feel like a new woman." After describing the complete change from weakness to strength and from sickness to health, and still feeling that there is a failure to express all the happiness that health has brought, the writers fall back on the time-worn words expressive of absolute and entire change and improvement of physical and mental conditions.

"Before I commenced to use your medicine I was in a bad condition (for eight years) and four doctors treated me," writes Mrs. Bettie Askew, of Garysburg, Northampton Co., N. C. "They of course gave me at the time some relief but it did not last long. I was some days in my bed and some days I dragged about the house. I have used five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of the 'Pellets.' Now I feel like a new woman, and I want the world to know it."

"I suffered with female weakness about eight years—tried several doctors but derived no benefit until I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. John Green, of Danville, Boyle Co., Ky. "This medicine was recommended to me by other patients. I have taken six bottles and I feel like another person."

The wonderful curative properties of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are best displayed in the cures of chronic diseases, which local physicians had treated without success or pronounced to be absolutely incurable. The cure of Mrs. Graham, as told in her letter given below, is an illustration of what has been done for hundreds and thousands of weak and sick women. Here is a case of a woman who had never seen a well day since she reached womanhood. Physicians agreed that hers was an incurable chronic disease. And yet by the use of "Favorite Prescription" Mrs. Graham was restored to perfect health, and with a gain in weight of forty-five pounds to witness to the reality of the cure.

"I am just as well now as I was when I came into the world," writes Mrs. P. A. Graham, of 617 Race Street, New Orleans, La. "I will put it at that anyway for I cannot remember ever seeing a well day since I became a woman (twenty-five years ago), until six months ago when I began the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' They are the best medicines on earth made for women and their complaints. No matter what the disease may be, even if called incurable by doctors. I was treated by several country physicians and also had some of the best city physicians to prescribe for me. They all said my case was incurable, being a chronic disease of long standing. I had been sick for eight years until six months ago, when I commenced with Dr. R. V. Pierce's medicine, and it brought me out to where I am now, from ninety pounds to one hundred and thirty-five. If any suffering woman will write Dr. Pierce he will write her a fatherly letter and give her good advice, and if she will follow his instructions will find out in a very short time that she has been mistaken by putting her trust in home doctors."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. Its use will carry a woman in comfort through that trying period known as the turn of life. It soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

Sick women, especially those suffering from chronic forms of disease, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held sacredly private and strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A RUMOR STRONGLY DENIED

MR. BERGHOFF NOT OFFERED BANK CASHIERSHIP.

President Bass, of the First National, and Mayor Berghoff Both Deny Truth of the Report.

A rumor has been in circulation for a day or two to the effect that Mayor H. C. Berghoff had been tendered the position of cashier of the First National bank to succeed the late Lem B. Hartman. Today President John H. Bass, of the bank, said to The Sentinel that the rumor was entirely without foundation. He stated distinctly that the board of directors had not had the question of a successor to Mr. Hartman under advisement as yet and that no one had been in any wise considered.

Mr. Berghoff himself entered a most vigorous denial of the truth of the rumor. To The Sentinel he said:

"I know that such a rumor has been in circulation, but I have absolutely no idea where or how it started. I know that I have not been seen personally in relation to the matter by any of the directors, or by any one in their interest; in fact, I do not know who the directors are. I know who part of them are, but do not know the full personnel of the board. I have given the rumors and the matter no thought whatever; I don't believe in trying to cross a bridge before I get to it. I have no idea as to what the plan of reorganization of the bank is, even if there is a plan. The directors, I presume, know what they want, but I am sure I don't. I am in no position to say what I would do in case the position were offered to me, because I think it would be in bad taste for me to say what I would do in this or that case, before I know what this or that case is. As I said, I cannot say anything and have nothing whatever to say on the subject at this time, further than to reiterate that I have not been approached in any way and know absolutely nothing about it."

REMAINS AT HARTFORD CITY.

The announcement in the Hartford City papers that Bishop Alerding had been induced to reconsider the appointment of Father Dhe to the Besancon parish, through the efforts made by Father Dhe's Hartford City parishioners, is an error. Father Dhe expressed a wish to be transferred to some other charge and whether he should remain in Hartford City or go elsewhere was left entirely to him. Father Dhe reconsidered his request and desired to remain in Hartford City, and Bishop Alerding allowed him to stay. Rev. John F. Noll, who was to have gone to Hartford City, will be transferred to Besancon.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The two games played yesterday in the National league did not change the relative standing of any of the clubs and there was no particularly noteworthy feature in either of the games. Boston turned out only 300 people to see the sport, while at the other park, where the Americans were playing, there were 2,119 spectators. It looks very much as though the Americans have the Nationals "faded" in Boston, at least. The total National league attendance was 2,300. In the four American cities where base ball was played yesterday, 9,224 persons paid to see the games, an average of 2,306 to the game, just eight more than witnessed the two games played in the National, and all the home clubs won. Philadelphia has been forging ahead steadily and now stands at the top of the pile, notwithstanding adverse decisions by the Pennsylvania supreme court; the umpire's decisions count for something, too. Cleveland has a good lead for last place and suffered a horrible slaughter yesterday at the hands of Washington. In the American association Walter Wilmot and Bobby Gilks again demonstrated that if anybody has an idea that they could be forced to win a game the odds were ready to be put against them. Wilmot's club made 11 runs, but it wasn't enough. At Indianapolis Watkins' aggregation won the rubber from Columbus and the two clubs are now only three points apart. The game was a ten-inning one and was won by Babb, who lined out a three-bagger in the tenth and was brought home by an outfield fly. The total attendance was 3,634. The results follow:

HONORS THE HEROES.

"Old Glory" fills the skies. It is erected because of the soldier's deeds. It is erected, no less, because of the woman's love.

FORGET NOT THE WOMEN.

While we extol our soldiers, living and dead, let us not forget the women of those days. They did not have the inspiration of the fife and drum, of the touch of elbows, of the advancing flag. Alone, at the dead of night, often in want; alone, save for their unfaltering trust in the God of Battles; alone, with their love for soldier and for country, with courage unexcelled, with hearts undismayed, with souls divinely confident, they suffered and waited, and prayed. Were the four years long for the hero in the field? They were longer still for the heroine at home. Did the soldier hunger for his wife's caress? The woman starved for her husband's kiss. Was death terrible to the man in the southland? The news of it brought blackest night to the brave woman in the northland. All honor to the woman of war times. Hers none of the glory of battle. She wore no epaulettes; she carried no sword. But today we weave about her head the chaplet of victory, and place in her hands the choicest flowers from the garden of our memories.

Her sons and daughters compose the citizenship of Indiana today, and will tomorrow. May we not then believe, whenever again is to be written a story of love and war, whenever again our blood-bought banner is carried forth at the head of our blue-clad boys, that Indiana's daughters will speed Indiana's sons as they again follow the flying flag to its future victories?

Now, one day in each year, every patriotic citizen lays aside his labor, and all meet to do honor to the noble dead.

Memorial day will be observed today as it never has been before, and increasingly year by year. It will be a day of flags and flowers—an object lesson in patriotism. It can be of no value to the dead. Let us make it full of good to the living. The Grand Army is fast passing away, and soon, too soon, it will be gone from among us forever. Then, even more than now, we shall need other men, with hearts fired with the same patriotic zeal, to take their places. Shall we be such men? Shall our children grow to be such men? Yes; if we teach them devotion to the flag and the glorious principles for which it fills the sky.

TEACHING PATRIOTISM.

When you go to your homes today, gather your children around the hearthstone, take your little tow-headed boys upon your knee and tell them of this great and glorious government which has done so much for the rights of man. Tell them of the noble lives that have been laid down that they might enjoy their rights. Teach them to take off their hats to the old flag, which represents the most sublime political sentiments which have ever inspired humanity, and abjure them never to bring disgrace upon that starry banner. This is the day to lay aside politics for patriotism. Love of country is as much above love of party as the flag is above a red rag. Tell them of the man, beside whose open grave, the nation stood, since last Memorial day. Tell them that William McKinley was president of the United States, but that he was vastly more. He, more than any other, wielded the discordant elements of our nation into one homogeneous people. Under his benign influence, descendants of Puritan and Cavalier united their energies more than ever before for the glory of our flag and of our union. In peace and in war he wrought so wisely and so lovingly, that sectional and party differences have well-nigh disappeared; and pulpit and press, patriot and politician, from the rising to the setting of the sun, chant paeans to his memory. Under his leadership, liberty has been carried to the four corners of the earth, and cheers and tears of rejoicing have greeted "Old Glory" even in the forbidden city of the ancient capital of the oldest empire upon the globe. We mourn today a fallen leader, but more than this, we mourn a loving man—a sweet-tempered, clean-hearted, liberty loving, God-fearing man. A man who loved the earth, and who manifested his love for it, and for all its joys, hopes and visions, when he said in his last hours to the nurse who sought to close the curtain by his bedside: "The trees are so beautiful; I love to look at them." A man who loved his wife, and who loved her so well, that his tender devotion and loving solicitude have fallen upon the homes of America as a sweet benediction. A man who loved his God, and who loved and trusted him so much, that as he surrendered in his heroic struggle for life, so dear to him as well as us, he could look in His face and in that of his fond wife and say: "God's will, not ours, be done."

"Talk of his doom without a sigh;
For he is Freedom's now, and Fame's—
One of the few, the immortal names,
That were not born to die."

LESSONS NOT FORGOTTEN

The lessons you taught, veterans of the 60's, were not forgotten in 1898, when, at our very threshold, within our sight and hearing, the cries of the tortured and oppressed were raised to us for assistance. The decrepitude of age, the helplessness of womanhood, the weakness of childhood, appealed to us for deliverance from death, and worse. The men of Indiana, the men of America, again followed the flying flag, cherishing, as never before, liberty and fraternity, fraternity and liberty. What pride to know, that that flag, flung to the breezes more than a century ago, symboling as it does principles only less precious than those represented by the banner of the cross of Christ, has never known defeat. What pride to know, that first of all the standards of the earth, it has carried liberty to stranger peoples. What pride to know that the oppressed and downtrodden everywhere, as they look on high for help, may behold it in skies which never before were kissed by its beauty. What pride to know, that the sons of the man who wore the blue, and the sons of the man who wore the gray, and the sons of the man who wore the garb of the fugitive slave, marched side by side carrying it to its new glories. What pride to know that, as we listen, we hear in wild acclaim the cheers, and, as we look, we see in deepest gratitude the tears that greet the establishment of civil government under its folds for ten millions of our brother men.

I feel my inability to do honor to the men who have honored themselves as the voice of no man can. In the authorized translation of the scriptures, our Saviour is made to say, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend." I take it that the translaters have not done justice to the original, but that the truth when fully stated is, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for another, even though a stranger." The civil war and the Spanish war have each justified that translation, Mr. Chairman. Four million slaves unshackled. Five million serfs brought into the sunlight of liberty.

You all know the men whose memories we honor today. They went from every section of this proud state. They went from every walk of life; from farm and workshop, school and office, factory and counting room; they left home and fireside; mother and sister, wives and sweethearts; without a tremor in their voices or a halt upon their step, to offer up their lives at a crisis in the world's history.

ALL HONOR TO VETERANS.

All honor to these brave men who laid down their lives under the folds of the flag. You saw them die in the awful carnage of contending armies; or lie down never to rise again in the hellish prison pen or sleep the sleep that knows no waking while suffering from some dread camp disease. All honor to their memories, which should inspire us and each of us to greater efforts to sustain the principles for which "Old Glory waves.

"In the beauty of the lilies Christ was born across the sea.
With a glory in his bosom that transfigured you and me.
As He died to make men holy; so they died to make men free.
And God goes marching on."

We love our state. Fair is her name, and fairer yet, her sunlit hills and silver streams. We, her children, love her. We love the kindly spirit of her people. We love the memories which cluster 'round her history. We love her forests, fields and lakes. We love her history, in peace and war. We love her sons, who have brought her fame. We love her daughters, our sisters, mothers, wives. We love her soldiers, living and dead. We love those who have written any book or song, which keeps the soldier's memory green, or his glory bright. We love those who built that enduring monument to our country-loving men; and who have inscribed upon the tablets of their hearts a tribute to our fireside-loving women.

"The winds of heaven never fanned,
The circling sunlight never spanned
The borders of a better land
Than our own 'Indiana.' "

May her sons unto countless generations be worthy of their patriotic sires.

Following another song by the Emerson quartet, Rev. J. H. Evans, of Bethel Evangelical church, pronounced the benediction, which closed the observance of the day.

CONFIRMS RUMOR OF STORK.

Washington, May 30.—The social and official world of Washington is much interested to know that President Roosevelt has confirmed rumors concerning his household. Representative Slayden, of Texas, called on the president to invite him to San Antonio in October. The president thanked his visitor and said that he would most gladly accept the invitation, but could fix no definite date, because in October he anticipated a most important event in his household and did not wish to be away from Washington.

Mrs. Roosevelt, with her children, will leave on the Dolphin on June 8 for their home in Oyster Bay. It had been her intention to return to Washington and remain until the adjournment of congress, but since her recent indisposition it has been decided unwise for her to make a second journey. The family will return to the capital the later part of September. One of the plans not yet matured is for Mrs. Roosevelt and the children to spend the month of November at Deer Park for the benefit of the mountain air.

An equally interesting event is scheduled for about the same time in the household of the Japanese minister. Mr. and Mrs. Takahira and their three young children will spend the summer at Cape May, where the minister has engaged a cottage.

TO SOLVE SMALLPOX PROBLEM.

Indianapolis, May 30.—Governor Durbin called the members of the state board of health in conference here yesterday and discussed the smallpox situation and the effect that the Kentucky quarantine would have upon the state. It was determined to seek a conference with the Kentucky authorities at once and assure them that Indiana would do everything necessary to meet the conditions against which they complained, and the governor promises to loosen the purse strings and permit the use of so much of the $50,000 emergency fund at his disposal as will be necessary to secure the bettering of conditions in the smallpox districts. The members of the board believe that the problem will now be solved.

GOVERNOR TAFT IN ROME.

New York, May 30.—Bishop O'Gorman has telegraphed from Naples to the papal secretary of state at the Vatican announcing the arrival of Governor Taft, says a Rome dispatch to the Tribune. Governor Taft received a visit from Ambassador Meyer and several officers of the squadron at Naples who met him in the Philippines. Bishop O'Gorman reported to him the situation in regard to the Philippine question at the Vatican since the governor left New York, giving an account of the result of his conferences with Cardinal Rampolla. The governor is expected at Rome today.

KILLS CHILD AND HERSELF.

New York, May 30.—Mrs. Rose Fieginow, wife of a newsdealer, killed her six-year-old daughter Bertha today by gas asphyxiation and then committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. The woman had been a sufferer from a nervous disease for several years and it is supposed she was temporarily insane.

SOME OTHER ATTRACTIONS.

Aside from the formal observance of Decoration day, a number of attractions about the city furnished entertainment for large crowds. At League park the Fort Wayne and Toledo traveling men played a game of base ball, and another contest was played at the Concordia college grounds. East of the city the Gun club enjoyed a shoot. The Amateur Driving club gave a fine program of races at Centlivre park.

LOCAL LINES.

The Fort Wayne High school base ball team went to Goshen today to play the game postponed several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Penoyer, of Battle Creek, Mich., are in the city, the guests of Mrs. Penoyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Ryan.

Mrs. J. H. Lindhorst, of Reynolds, Ind., is in the city visiting Rev. and Mrs. C. F. W. Meyer. She is on her way to Cleveland to visit relatives.

BIEBER-NESTEL.

Miss Alma E. Nestel and William H. Bieber were united in marriage by Rev. A. S. Preston, of Wayne street M. E. church, on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bieber went to Ellis, Kan., on their wedding tour, where they will remain a few weeks, and will visit in Minneapolis and other cities before returning home.

GOES TO THE B. & O.

JOHN QUINN CALLED TO BALTIMORE TO WORK.

GOOD POSITION AWAITS HIM

SLATED FOR ADVANCEMENT IN MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT.

WILL REDUCE RUNNING TIME

TWENTY HOURS THE SCHEDULE NEW YORK TO CHICAGO.

John J. Quinn, a machinist who has been employed at the Wabash shops for several years, has resigned his position there to go to Baltimore to work in the Baltimore and Ohio shops. The resignation and the move to Baltimore were made upon the request of one high in official circles on the Baltimore and Ohio road, and it is presumed that Mr. Quinn will in a short time be given an important office in the mechanical department of that railway. He is a good mechanic and has other attributes of a successful railway man, and notice of his appointment will come as a welcome, though not very surprising bit of news.

EAR LACERATED.

Eugene Oppenhamer, of the Wabash shops, was the victim of a painful accident yesterday afternoon. While passing through the machinery room he stumbled over something and fell and the sharp end of a piece of wire which was lying on the floor was forced completely through one of his ears, making an ugly hole. Mr. Oppenhamer's experience at the shops has been attended by a series of accidents sufficient to cause a less resolute man to retire from that work. He had his lips painfully cut less than a year ago, and shortly after that injury healed one of his hands was crushed in some machinery and for awhile it was feared that he would have to submit to amputation of a portion of it. This wound had not thoroughly healed when he had it torn open afresh and was again off duty several weeks.

CALLED TO PITTSBURG.

Arthur Greenick, a Fort Wayne boy, will arrive in the city this evening for a short visit with his parents before going to Pittsburg to assume a lucrative position with the Pittsburg and Lake Erie road. The young man has been employed as chief draughtsman for the Chicago Great Western road at St. Paul for some time, but he resigns that position to go to Pittsburg to take a more promising one.

A NEW MASTER MECHANIC.

Walter J. Thomas, master mechanic of the Big Four shops at Louisville, has been transferred to the more important shops at Wabash, to succeed Harry G. Hudson, who resigned two months ago to take a better position with the Alliance Steel company.

TWENTY-HOUR TRAIN.

This morning's Chicago Chronicle says that the Pennsylvania and the New York Central companies have decided to put on a train June 15 which will bring New York and Chicago within twenty hours' ride of each other. The Chronicle says: "This schedule is generally looked upon as a compromise which relieves the situation of the possibility of pressing the speed to undue limits. The matter has progressed to the point where there has been a meeting of the New York Central's passenger representatives, called for the purpose of arranging the time schedules between New York and Chicago. Similar action will be taken by the Pennsylvania. This meeting will be held the present week and the settlement of this detail will be followed quickly by the announcement of the new train. This is a shortening of the time between New York and Chicago by four hours below the fastest trains now running and almost six to eight below the ordinary trains."

The Record-Herald, commenting upon the proposition, says: "The New York Central and the Lake Shore originally made speed tests with a view to lowering the time between the two cities and several weeks ago made all arrangements for an eighteen-hour train. Soon after that the Pennsylvania began preparations for a seventeen-hour train and this led to a conference between the officials of the roads interested. It was decided that eighteen hours would be too fast and that the excess fare on such a train would be too much to make it popular. Twenty hours was finally decided upon as a happy medium, and this schedule will lower the time of the limited trains by four hours and of the ordinary trains between five and eight hours. It is strongly hinted that the move is another step in the direction of bringing the two coasts at least a day nearer together. That this will be done as soon as the betterments on the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific are completed there remains no doubt. The matter was talked over between Presidents Harriman, Hughitt and Burt at Omaha Tuesday. It was stated in connection with the new trains that the excess fare agreement would be preserved, and in this event the fare between New York and Chicago on these trains will be $28. The equipment will be as fine as money can provide."

WILL VOTE ON SUBSIDY.

The commissioners of Wells county have ordered an election to be held in Harrison township June 25 upon the proposition to give the promoters of a railway a sum equal to 1 per cent. of the taxable property in that township whenever the line is completed and cars are running. The proposed road is called the Ohio and Indiana and it will extend from Portland, on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, to some point on the Chicago and Erie road. The promoters are now actively engaged in securing right-of-way, evidently believing that the subsidy proposition will carry. The road is to be completed and cars running by April 1, 1903.

CASTERLINE GETS IT.

C. M. C. Casterline has secured the advertising privilege for the program for the Pennsylvania employes' annual outing at Rome City June 21. He has already commenced soliciting "space" on the paper.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Mr. Vachon, of the Pittsburg shops, had a foot injured yesterday by a hoisting jack falling upon it. No bones were broken.

Nickel Plate Conductor George Harsh, who was at Fostoria to visit his sister, who is sick, reported for duty on the road yesterday.

Supt. E. A. Gould, of the Wabash, was in the city a short time this morning. He left on No. 7 this morning for Peru.

The recent rise in wages of the telegraphers on the Grand Trunk road has increased the company's pay rolls $25,000 per annum.

John Herbert, who was in the Wabash hospital as the result of an accident, has recovered and returned to this city to resume his duties in the shops.

Forty cars loaded with dressed beef for export composed a fast through freight train on the Nickel Plate last night. It passed through this city at 7:30 o'clock.

General Passenger Agent E. A. Ford, of the Pennsylvania, is in Indiana visiting the various important cities on the Pennsylvania lines. He was in Indianapolis yesterday.

Fifty of the students of the Culver Military academy will leave over the Northern Pacific road, June 9, upon an educational tour which will include a visit to the famous Yellowstone park.

Engineer O. L. Shoaff, who has been running a Nickel Plate yard engine at Stony Island for some months, came here this morning to spend the day with his sister and other relatives.

Fred Sawyer, who was called to Danvers, Mass., several days ago by the death of his mother, returned to Indianapolis yesterday. He is the Pennsylvania freight agent at that point.

The National Association of Traveling Freight Agents, which will hold its sixth annual convention at Indianapolis next week, will have headquarters in the Wabash offices, opposite the Union passenger station.

The Central railroad of New Jersey will establish a pension system for its old employes similar to that now in effect on the Pennsylvania lines. It is stated that the plan will affect 3,500 employes within a few years.

The railroads centering at Columbus, O., have decided not to close the city ticket offices on Saturdays at noon. The plan was tried last year, but it developed that it was an inconvenience to the public and a loss in revenue, and especially affected the Sunday excursion business.

The Lake Shore will shorten the running time of its fast trains between Chicago and New York June 15, when the summer time card goes into effect. The fast train will make only seven stops en route, viz: Dunkirk, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Sandusky and Elkhart.

The Montclare shops of the Baltimore and Ohio company are in full operation again after being more or less crippled by a strike of the men against piece work and for an increase in wages. A compromise was effected, the company dropping the piece work plan and giving the men an increase in wages of from 5 to 15 per cent.

The Wabash earned in the third week of May $337,250.30, an increase over the corresponding week of 1901 of $22,218. Since the first of July, the beginning of its fiscal year, the road has earned $17,033,147.61, an increase over the corresponding period of the previous year of $1,377,654.60.

The Pullman company has been sued in the district court of the United States of New Jersey for $5,000 damages by Rev. T. Johnson, editor of the African Methodist Episcopal church organ. The complaint is that the persons in charge of the car refused to serve him with breakfast when on a journey from Richmond to Washington.

A Delphos paper states that the Lima, Delphos, Van Wert and Fort Wayne Traction company has completed the work of getting a right-of-way through that section of country. Saturday the last obstacle was removed when the company purchased a tract of land east of Delphos. The same paper says Delphos has been selected as the location for the power station and that the plant will be established near the canal in order that it can draw its water supply from that ditch.

The first accident to one of the big Brooks engines the Nickel Plate put into service several weeks ago occurred to No. 126. George Quilder at the throttle, early in the week. The two rear driver left the rails and for awhile it appeared that there was going to be trouble for the train crew. The wheels were "jacked" up, however, and the engine was able to climb back on the rails without calling out the wreck crew. The derailment of a heavy engine while out on the road is a serious matter, but fortunately such accidents are rare.

A CORNER OF THE MONT PELEE CRATER.

Here is a unique picture. It is from a photograph taken in the very crater of Mont Pelee and shows how the top of a smoldering volcano looks. When this picture was taken, Pelee was supposed to be practically harmless. Few persons believed that it would ever blow its head off and cause the death of many thousands. Certainly the photographer did not. The crater was a favorite resort for careless tourists, who looked curiously at the jets of sulphurous steam issuing here and there from its cracked cap and walked more or less fearlessly over the crust below which were held in leash the tremendous forces whose awful power has so recently been demonstrated.

CIRCUS DAY TOMORROW.

Everything in Readiness for the Engagement of Ringling Bros.' Big Show.

Tomorrow, Saturday, May 31, is circus day. After much preliminary heralding and a world of pleasurable anticipation Ringling Brothers' famous big show will be seen here in all its magnificent completeness. In the organization of such a colossal national entertainment, and in bringing to the homes of the people the rare and curious things of the wide world, the five famous proprietors of this greatest of all great shows have constituted themselves public benefactors. Ringling Brothers' Circus is so admirably organized that there is something to interest and hold the attention of every spectator. The student of natural history is furnished the grandest object lesson that the human mind could possibly conceive of, for the wonders of the animal world are brought together in living, breathing reality. The lover of fine stock has here 500 magnificent, thoroughbred horses upon which to feast his eyes. The admirer of physical beauty and perfection in athletic achievement is regaled with the performances of hundreds of the world's most famous acrobats, gymnasts and riders. The artistic instinct finds gratification in the splendor of a pageantry that out-Neros Nero. Even the devotee of the turf is not forgotten, for the finest racing thoroughbreds of Europe, Arabia and our own Kentucky are matched in the most thrilling and hotly-contested trials of speed and equine endurance. From the initial parade that precedes the opening of the engagement until the close of the final performance, everything is upon a scale of grandeur and magnitude hitherto unknown in the amusement world. The inaugural street parade takes place at 10 o'clock in the morning, and is a fitting introduction to the wonders of the big show. This great parade is Ringling Brothers' free offering to the people. No one who sees Ringling Brothers' parade will miss the performance. It is a splendid promise of what is to follow in the big show. Its hundreds of proudly-stepping horses, with waving plumes and trappings of gold and silver glittering in the sunlight; its gorgeously costumed knights and ladies, heralds and courtiers; its brilliantly uniformed soldiery and mounted military band; its great herd of cannon-drawing war elephants; its resplendent gold-illuminated chariots and cars of state; its superb tableau floats, and its scores of magnificently carved and ornamented dens and cages of openly-exhibited rare wild beasts, form a spectacle that in wealth of display and beauty of coloring rivals the rainbow in prismatic brilliancy. The opening performance begins at 2 o'clock, but the doors will be open an hour earlier to afford visitors an opportunity to see the zoological display, including the only living giraffe, and to enjoy the grand concert by Ganweiler's famous military band. The performance introduces hundreds of new and novel acts, enlisting the services of 300 high class performers, 40 clowns and hundreds of auxiliaries, and is declared by all who have seen it to be the grandest and most complete arenic exhibition ever presented before the American public. Reserved numbered seats and admissions show day at Woodworth's Aveline house drug store; exactly the same prices as charged at the regular ticket wagons on the show grounds.

WAS A DOUBLE FUNERAL.

There was a double funeral service at the Antioch Lutheran church near Hoagland yesterday, when the last rites were paid in memory of Mrs. Elmira Small, a pioneer resident of Madison township, and of her granddaughter, Mrs. John Oberlin, of 45 Maumee avenue, this city. Rev. Miller, of Antioch church, preached the funeral service for the former, and Rev. Lake, of this city, officiated in a similar capacity at the obsequies over the remains of Mrs. Oberlin. The attendance, it is said, was the largest that ever assembled upon a similar occasion in Marion township.

SLIGHT BLAZE IN A BARN.

Boys and matches are the combination believed to be responsible for a fire which obtained a start in a stable at the rear of the Freese & Gale liquor store at 5:15 o'clock Thursday evening. For several days it is said boys have been playing in the barn where a pile of excelsior and straw was stored. The department made a quick response to the alarm and held the damage down to about $15.

CHARLES ROBINSON FINED IN POLICE COURT.

Arrested With an Ugly Weapon on His Person—Goes to Jail—The Police News.

Charles Robinson, a young man living in the east end, was arrested last evening for carrying concealed weapons. A business-looking revolver was found on his person and this morning Judge Dreibelbiss fined him $5 and costs, in default of the payment of which Robinson was sent to jail. Robinson, it was shown, is in the habit of getting about half-boozy occasionally and during such periods delights in brandishing his weapon and threatening to shoot a lot of liver and lights out of such people as happen to be within range. The complaints have been frequent and yesterday the officers were instructed to bring him in. He was entirely sober when arrested and had made no demonstration yesterday, but the tell-tale weapon was found on his person and the penalty was inflicted as stated.

William Huddleston, the demented man picked up yesterday afternoon on the street, was turned over to the township trustee this morning on order of Judge Dreibelbiss. He will probably be sent to the poor farm.

Miss Lucy Troxell, living at 420 East Wayne street, reported to the police that her bicycle was stolen from the basement of the Clay street school house yesterday afternoon.

Henry Warner, living on Oakland street, fell in an epileptic fit on Wells street last evening and was taken to his home in the patrol wagon.

The glass in the fire box at the corner of DeWald and Lafayette streets was again reported broken last evening. No alarm was sent in, however.

Mrs. McBennett, of 2010 Lafayette street, reports that she lost a $10 bill on the street near her residence yesterday afternoon.

Last evening a couple of rowdies out with a horse and buggy drove on the sidewalk on Columbia street and otherwise conducted themselves as only rowdies can. They drove to the door of Kennedy's saloon, ordered a batch of drinks and then drove away before Officer Goeglein arrived. The names of the fellows are known and they will be arrested on sight.

Philip Koehler writes the superintendent of police that William Detolph's dog attacked and bit him a few days ago and he wants the dog killed. Detolph is the park officer who has a penchant for killing other people's dogs.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

CULL.

Thomas J. Cull, a veteran employe of the Wabash railroad, died quite suddenly Thursday evening at his home, 613 Taylor street, from heart trouble, after an illness of about one week.

Mr. Cull was 48 years of age, and had been a lifelong resident of Fort Wayne. He was for many years an engineer on the Wabash, but twelve years ago his eyesight began failing and he was compelled to give up the service on the road. Since that time he had been in charge of a stationary engine at the pumping station and at the Wabash shops. He was well known among the railroad men and had many friends. The surviving relatives include four brothers—John Cull, of Huntington; Dennis Cull, of Hanover, Mich.; P. J. Cull, of Grand Rapids, and James Cull, of this city.

STIER.

Life and death were closely blended Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stier, 2013 Hanna street. During the morning a child was born to the parents, and later in the day occurred the death of their little son, Edmund, 7 years of age. The little lad had been ill from dropsy, but the immediate cause of death was congestion of the lungs.

Funeral services will be held Saturday [illegible] from the residence and at 9:30 o'clock from St. Patrick's Catholic church.

LEPPER.

Funeral services for George J. Lepper were held this afternoon from the Lutheran church at Soest. Mr. Lepper was a well known farmer of Marion township, and his death occurred Wednesday at the age of 50 years. He was born in Germany, came to America in 1875, and had resided in Marion township continuously since that date.

Surviving are the widow and five children—Mrs. Frederick Klenke and Gustave Buurk, of this city; Mrs. Henry Woebeking and Mrs. John Schlandroff, of Adams township, and Carl Lepper, of Marion township.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Spitz.—Funeral services of Mrs. Barbara Spitz will be held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence in Washington township and at 2 o'clock from St. John's Lutheran church.

AN ADDRESS AT ROANOKE.

Rev. J. W. Lake, pastor of Calvary U. B. church, left this morning for Roanoke, where he is to deliver the Decoration day address this afternoon.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT

JURY FINDS FOR DRUGGIST BEVERFORDEN.

Damage Suit Results in Victory for Defendant—The News of the Courts.

The jury in the Meyer-Beverforden case, which went out yesterday at a few minutes before 12, returned a verdict at 4:30 last evening. The verdict was short and decidedly to the point. It read: "We, the jury, find for the defendant." This was the general verdict, although there were sixty-two interrogatories which were answered in detail. The attorneys for both sides were present when the verdict was read and after the jury was polled it was discharged by Judge Aiken, and the long and rather uncertain case was ended. It will be remembered that at a previous trial the jury disagreed.

Judge Aiken, Sheriff Stout and Deputy Clerk Nicodemus are spending the day at Lake George in Steuben county. The judge went up to look after his cottage, the sheriff to look after the weather and Nicodemus went to look after the other two. Neither of them will fish except in a case of self defense.

The court house offices were practically closed all day. During the morning the clerk's office was open for a few hours and the sheriff's office was kept open solely for the convenience of the deputies until about noon. This afternoon all were tightly closed.

A remonstrance signed by 191 qualified remonstrants of Lafayette township has been filed in the auditor's office, protesting against the granting of a license to Robert Buch to operate a saloon in the village of Zanesville. This is eighteen above the required number, being that many of a majority of that township. The application for the license will be considered by the commissioners next Monday. The remonstrance, however, gives the commissioners no option in the matter.

A demented individual, representing himself as a priest, was picked up by the police yesterday. The same man has been here before.

Thirty great principal and menage riders are with Ringling Bros.' circus, which shortly exhibits in this city. Among the most famous are the Davenports, the Hobsons, Frederick and Augusta Schadel, Julia Lowande, John and Michael Rooney, Rhoda Royal, Madame Royal, Charles Carroll and the famous prince of horsemen, John O'Brien.

Several thousand people thronged the street and sidewalks in front of Wolff's clothing store last evening to listen to the classical renderings of Wolff's military band in their second out-door summer concert. This band is composed of eighteen pieces and embraces some of the finest musical talent in the city. Mr. Wefel, the vocal soloist, was compelled to respond to repeated encores several times. These concerts have become quite a feature this summer and the music-loving public look forward to Wolff's Thursday evening entertainments with great pleasure. Under the direction of Mr. Corazzi, the manager of the store, they are equal to concerts for which people readily pay a dollar to hear in regular places of amusement.

A popular feature of Ringling Brothers' circus is the preliminary concert given by Ganweiler's military band, in the great hippodrome pavilion, during the hour preceding the performance. There are forty members of this band, and each one is a soloist.
